1974 Index

Title		Page and month
General management
Accountability in local government	82	May
Affirmative action—some steps toward its accomplishment	156	August
Analyzing customer profitability—a computer-based system for banks	112	June
Canada—a matter of identity and role	250	December
Citizen participation in public planning—a dialogue	95	May
Compensating executives—after wage controls	46	March
Computer application system security—the auditing aspect	69	April
Conceptual planning for comprehensive health services	235	November
Coordination of a bicentennial celebration	174	September
Crisis and conflict in education	214	October
Crisis or opportunity in higher education	53	March
Developing work standards for hospitals	239	November
Environmental management challenges	6	January
Establishing a communications line between government and business	52	March
Executive compensation trends in banking	118	June
Facts about trusteeship in colleges and universities—results of a survey	204	October
FAMIS—a financial accounting and management information system for local government	85	May
Games companies play—or the pyramidal pirouette	133	July
Health maintenance organizations—some actuarial aspects	57	March

Is EFTS coming of age?	106	June
The HMO federal law	222	November
The internal audit function in retailing	73	April
Looking at the current scene in higher education—from financial reporting to management responsibilities, to the future	198	October
Management considerations in treasury stock transactions	264	December
Modeling of aircraft movements at airports	34	February
The new system of accounts for motor carriers—a story and a moral	22	February
On the concept of information	189	September
On the concept of system review	66	April
On corporate social responsibility	165	August
Operational review of management reporting systems	75	April
The organizational side of centralized EDP services	11	January
Organizing and managing the bicentennial	177	September
Parking systems analysis—an overview	180	September
Pastoral planning	14	January
Phase IV—A retrospective	49	March
Public transit service—quality and needs	55	March
The realtor and amalgamation—good for whom?	143	July
A resource allocation and planning system for the development and operation of health care delivery systems	224	November
The role of analysis in transportation planning	27	February
Scoring points on systems conversion	268	December
School facilities planning	209	October
Social accounting and corporate decision-making	2	January
A systems approach to planning and managing programs for the handicapped	162	August
Toward profit improvement	130	July
Urban land use planning: implications of a telebus system	253	December
Voluntarism and the voluntary human services agency	150	August

Accounting and reporting standards and controls

An automated accounts receivable system for administrative tribunals	98	May
Computer application system security—the auditing aspect	69	April
FAMIS—A financial accounting and management information system for local government	85	May
The internal audit function in retailing	73	April
Looking at the current scene in higher education—from financial reporting to management responsibilities, to the future	198	October
Management considerations in treasury stock transactions	264	December
The new system of accounts for motor carriers—a story and a moral	22	February
Operational review of management reporting systems	75	April

Data processing

Analyzing customer profitability—a computer-based system for banks	112	June
An automated accounts receivable system for administrative tribunals	98	May
Computer application system security—the auditing aspect	69	April
Is EFTS coming of age?	106	June
On the concept of information	189	September
The organizational side of centralized EDP services	11	January
A resource allocation and planning system for the development and operation of health care delivery systems	224	November
Scoring points on systems conversion	268	December
Uncollected funds—a computerized monitoring system for banks	121	June

Organization and personnel

Affirmative action—some steps toward its accomplishment	156	August
Compensating executives—after wage controls	46	March
Developing work standards for hospitals	239	November
Executive compensation trends in banking	118	June
Games companies play—or the pyramidal pirouette	133	July
The internal audit function in retailing	73	April
Organizing and managing the bicentennial	177	September
Scoring points on systems conversion	268	December

Planning

Accountability in local government	82	May
Citizen participation in public planning—A dialogue	95	May
Conceptual planning for comprehensive health services	235	November
Considerations in the design of fringe parking facilities	135	July
Coordination of a bicentennial celebration	174	September
Crisis and conflict in education	214	October
Crisis or opportunity in higher education	53	March
Developing work standards for hospitals	239	November
Environmental management challenges	6	January
Facts about trusteeship in colleges and universities—results of a survey	204	October
FAMIS—a financial accounting and management information system for local government	85	May
Health maintenance organizations—some actuarial aspects	57	March
Looking at the current scene in higher education—from financial reporting to management responsibilities, to the future	198	October
On the concept of information	189	September
On corporate social responsibility	165	August
The organizational side of centralized EDP services	11	January

Organizing and managing the bicentennial	177	September
Pastoral planning	14	January
Public transit service—quality and needs	55	March
A resource allocation and planning system for the development and operation of health care delivery systems	224	November
The role of analysis in transportation planning	27	February
School facilities planning	209	October
Scoring points on systems conversion	268	December
Social accounting and corporate decision-making	2	January
A systems approach to planning and managing programs for the handicapped	162	August
Toward profit improvement	130	July
Urban land use planning: implications of a telebus system	253	December
Voluntarism and the voluntary human services agency	150	August

Systems and controls

Accountability in local government	82	May
An automated accounts receivable system for administrative tribunals	98	May
Analyzing customer profitability—A computer-based system for banks	112	June
Computer application system security—the auditing aspect	69	April
Considerations in the design of fringe parking facilities	135	July
Coordination of a bicentennial celebration	174	September
Developing work standards for hospitals	239	November
Is EFTS coming of age?	106	June
FAMIS—A financial accounting and management information system for local government	85	May
The internal audit function in retailing	73	April
Modeling of aircraft movements at airports	34	February
On the concept of information	189	September
On the concept of system review	66	April
Operational review of management reporting systems	75	April

The organizational side of centralized EDP services	11	January
Organizing and managing the bicentennial	177	September
The new system of accounts for motor carriers—A story and a moral	22	February
Parking systems analysis—an overview	180	September
Railroad cars—the problem of supply and utilization	30	February
A resource allocation and planning system for the development and operation of health care delivery systems	224	November
Scoring points on systems conversion	268	December
A systems approach to planning and managing programs for the handicapped	162	August
Uncollected funds—A computerized monitoring system for banks	121	June
Urban land use planning: implications of a telebus system	253	December

Systems for business data processing

Burroughs B4700	41	February
Burroughs B7700	169	August
Honeywell 58	18	January
Honeywell 2020	192	September
Honeywell 6040	101	May
Honeywell 6050	246	November
IBM System/3 Model 15	217	October
IBM 370/115	61	March
NCR Century 300	78	April
Univac 90/60	125	June
Xerox 530	146	July

Special issues
Transportation	February
System review	April
Local government	May
Bank management	June
The social side of management	August
Education	October
Health care	November